PRACTICAL JOB FOR REAPER

Impious Farmer Wanted Him Put in Fields to Help Harvest Hands and Not Bother Him.

Representative Anthony of Kansas is accredited with the story of an impious farmer who was decidedly ill. It was during the late fall that he took to his bed and, physicians having some doubts as to his recovery, received the ministrations of a clergyman.

"You are close to the grave," said the clergyman solemnly.

The ailing farmer showed little interest.

"We must all prepare," continued the clergyman, "at some time in our lives to meet the grim reaper."

Then the sick man sat up.

"Grim reaper?" he repeated.

The clergyman nodded.

"If you catch him around here," growled the farmer, "you put him out in the fields with the rest of the hands and he'll get his fill of reaping without bothering me!"—Washington Star.

Fine for Bachelors.

"What is your attitude toward mechanical music?"

"Well, it has some advantages."

"For instance?"

"In the old days when a single man liked to enjoy a little music in the evening without going out he either had to hire a pianist or marry one, but now he can buy a piano-player as a permanent fixture and make his valet do the foot work."

Baiting the Railroads.

"Our community thinks our railroad oughter furnish a couple more trains per day. We're going to take the matter to the legislature, too."

"But very few people in your community ever travel."

"Maybe not. But we like to see the cars go by."—Judge.

The Microbe War.

"We are going to give up having Johnny get an education."

"For what reason?"

"Well, we can't get him sterilized every morning in time to go to school."—Puck.

Reminded.

Dick—I thought you were not going to give Miss Bankem anything for her birthday.

Tom—I wasn't. But how could I refuse? She sent me a bunch of forget-me-nots the day before.—Judge.

Of Things That Never Were.

He—This brand of champagne should be called the biograph.

She—Why so?

He—Because after you drink a pint of it you begin to see moving pictures.

FREE PORTS BUILDERS OF COMMERCE

CONGRESS SHOULD GIVE THEM
PREFERENCE IN APPROPRIATIONS.

By Peter Radford.

This nation is now entering upon an era of marine development. The wreckage of European commerce has drifted to our shores and the world war is making unprecedented demands for the products of farm and factory. In transportation facilities on land we lead the world but our port facilities are inadequate, and our flag is seldom seen in foreign ports. If our government would only divert the energy we have displayed in conquering the railroads to mastering the commerce of the sea, a foreign bottom would be unknown on the ocean's highways.

This article will be confined to a discussion of our ports for the products of the farm must pass over our wharfs before reaching the water. We have in this nation 51 ports, of which 41 are on the Atlantic and 10 are on the Pacific Coast. The Sixty-second Congress appropriated over $51,000,000 for improving our Rivers and Harbors and private enterprise levies a toll of approximately $50,000,000 annually in wharfage and charges for which no tangible service is rendered. The latter item should be lifted off the backs of the farmer of this nation and this can be done by Congress directing its appropriations to ports that are free where vessels can tie up to a wharf and discharge her cargo free of any fee or charge.

A free port is progress. It takes out the unnecessary link in the chain of transactions in commerce which has for centuries laid a heavy hand upon commerce. No movement is so heavily laden with results or will more widely and equally distribute its benefits as that of a free port and none can be more easily and effectively secured.

THE VITAL PROBLEM OF AGRICULTURE

By Peter Radford.

There is no escaping the market problem and the highest development of agriculture will not be attained until it is solved, for a market is as necessary for the producer as land on which to grow his crop. Governmental and educational institutions have spent $180,000,000 in the United States during the past ten years for improving soil production and improving seeds and plants, but very little attention and less money has been given to the marketing side of agriculture.

The problem is a monumental one and one which will never be solved until it gets within the grasp of a gigantic organization where master minds can concentrate the combined experience and wisdom of the age upon it. It is a problem which the farmers, merchants, bankers, editors and statesmen must unite in solving.

The Farmers' Union stands for all there is in farming from the most scientific methods of seed selection to the most systematic and profitable plans of marketing, but does not believe in promoting one to the neglect of the other. We consider the work of farm demonstrators valuable and we ask that governmental and commercial agencies seeking to help us, continue to give us their assistance and advice, but we believe that their influence should be extended to the marketing side of our farm problems also.

We cannot hope to develop manufacturing by over-production of the factory; we cannot build up mercantile enterprises by the merchants loading their shelves with surplus goods and no more can we develop agriculture by glutting the market with a surplus of products.

DARIUS

The neigh of a horse made Darius King of Persia, the six contending powers for the throne agreeing among themselves that the one whose horse should neigh first should possess the kingdom. This ancient method of settling disputes among politicians could be revived with profit today. If our partisan factions and petty politicians could only settle their disputes by the neigh of a horse, the bark of a dog or the bray of a donkey, it would be a great blessing and would give our citizens a better opportunity to pursue the vocations of industry free from political strife.

Let those who pick political plums by raising rows and who flash swords dripping in the blood of industry understand that they cannot turn the public forum into a political arena and by a clash of personal aspirations still the hammer and axon the plow and that their quarrels must be settled in the back alleys of civilization.
